

It's Time!

International Women's Day 2013: "It's Time to Stand Up for Child Care"

Let's join together and make history this International Women's Day! It's time for all B.C. families to have access to publicly funded and high quality $10/day child care and for B.C.'s Early Childhood Educators to be recognized as the professionals they are.

It's time for professional wages for professional work, not wages based on gender but wages based on the quality of care provided by B.C.'s almost all-female child care workforce. And it's time for B.C.'s leaders to commit to the community plan for $10/day child care - providing access to quality child care for all B.C. families and communities. Accessible and affordable child care opens doors to employment and education, advances economic equality, helps strengthen our economy as a whole, and supports healthy communities for everyone.
